

Dr. Chan, Siu Kim graduated in the University of HK in 2001. He became the fellow of HK College of Physician in 2009 specialized in Nephrology. He also received training in renal transplantation in the University of Colorado, The USA in 2008. His current post is Associated Consultant of Department of Medicine and Geriatrics, United Christian Hospital.

His academic interests are on renal transplantation and infections in renal diseases. He had oral and poster presentations in various aspects of infections in dialysis population, including catheter related bacteraemia and peritoneal dialysis associated peritonitis. He also contributed to a few book chapters edited by local authority concerning pharmacology in renal insufficiency and transplantation.